

DAUGHTERS OF THEODORE P. SHONTS STILL IN THE LIMELIGHT.

SOCIETY

DUCHESSE DE CHAULNES.
To re-enter society next winter.

MISS MARGUERITE SHONTS,
Now in Ireland.

ANOTHER ten days of the strenuous life at the seashore, and the tide of travel will turn toward the mountain, the country home, and, in the instance of the less leisurely, the city home.

September is the month which suggests the busy season to come, and it is only the ultra-leisure class who continue their pleasures. All signs point, not only to a busy season, but an early one. Official society will not gather in Washington until late October and early November. It is only the resident set who return earlier. And they really enjoy the quiet of the between-seasons. There is scarcely a corporal's guard of officials just now in the Capital. Their families are off somewhere enjoying themselves and awaiting the head of the house, who will join them as soon as relieved of duties here.

The band concerts and the various river trips, which are all too little known, are the only real diversions, excepting, always, the touring car and the automobile. Band concerts have sprung up for every day in the week and in a different locality.

No prettier charity has ever been promulgated than these same concerts in the grounds of the Home for the Incurables on the Heights of Georgetown. Almost every band in Washington has volunteered its services for this unfortunate, but not unhappy, colony of sufferers.

Mrs. Park Cruikshank, of Tarrytown, N. Y., paid a visit there last week on her way back from the Southern mountains to her home. The guests were delighted with the elderly lady's dainty ways and Dresden china appearance, but are still deploring the fact that one of her eccentricities is the wearing of no less than three veils at one time. Mrs. Cruikshank is a writer of romance well known in the literary world.

Mr. Charles B. Hanford recently gave the patients a programme of readings, and Mr. George O'Connor is soon to give one of his inimitable performances of dialect songs and readings. A programme of fancy dancing is another voluntary offering for the fund, and there seems no dearth of amusement for these appreciative audiences during this fall season.

At one of the band concerts there recently, the smallest, brightest, and youngest patient there, tiny Miss Smith, five years old, brought her of a handsome basket of pink roses sent her by one of the many florists who send blossoms over there each day. She was so entranced with the music that she wanted to reward the one responsible, and so decided to present the leader with her beloved basket. Now, the truth was that she thought much more of the quaint basket than she did of the blossoms which it held, and, childlike, presented the flowers and waited for the return of the basket. The bandmaster, quite overwhelmed with the attention of the child, set the basket carefully away, with the flowers well protected, until he could take it home with him and enjoy it in the bosom of his family.

The little one is still waiting for the return of her pretty basket, and cannot understand why he prettily send it back as soon as he got his roses home.

Slender and Beautiful.

How Stout People Regain a Perfect Shape.

When a person is too stout and contemplates a special treatment in order to regain slenderness and beauty of form, there is one vital recommendation to be borne in mind—do nothing, take nothing that might possibly be detrimental to health and strength. That means do not go in for fasting; avoid violent exercising; but take plenty of rest and enjoy rational meals.

With this exordium we will proceed to give the full recipe of the preparation for reducing weight to normal and restoring slenderness and beauty which is now in vogue everywhere: 1/2 oz. Marmola, 1/2 oz. Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 1/2 oz. Peppermint Water.

Any druggist will make up this prescription or supply the ingredients to mix at home. Take one teaspoonful of this harmless mixture after each meal and at bedtime. This truly scientific remedy acts beneficially on the whole organism, restoring vigor, appetite, digestive power, renewing the blood and re-sanitizing the complexion. The reduction leaves no wrinkles, and there is a splendid redevelopment of muscular fiber.
